

CENTRE FOR PROJECT GOVERNANCE

Leveraging a strategic blend of substantial experience with a proven methodology, the Centre for Project Governance offers a set of current best practices applicable to project environments of all sizes. These best practices are now available to you and your staff through training or by engaging our resources through consulting services.

The Centre for Project Governance is headed by Bill Bates and Tom Flynn, who have over 67 combined years of experience in project management consulting, services, methodology development and training in Canada. Bill Bates adds his deep expertise with governance of project environments in the public, private and non-profit sectors. Tom Flynn has assessed the project management capabilities of a number of organizations in government and the private sector.

Along with Mr. Bates and Mr. Flynn, the Centre for Project Governance has six other certified project management experts, coordinators and specialists providing a wealth of experience. Being situated across Canada, they serve as a national solution for providing training and consulting services to their clients.

This team now brings their new updated project management methodology, training courses and experience to the Centre for Project Governance in association with Building Blocks.
